than the vote which elected Caldwell, Republican candidate for Governor, in 1872; yet this vote is completely overwhelmed by the astonishing Democratic vote which gives the State to Tilden by a majority claimed to be nearly 130,000.

Our special telegrams from Petersburg announce the election of Dr. Joseph Gorgenson, Republican, to Congress from the 4th district of Virginia, by 1,000 majority, in spite of a desperate effort on the part of the Democratic canvassers to count him out. Previous dispatches had induced us to concede the district to the Democratic candidate.

Concerning the next Congress the situation now seems to be about as follows: It is tolerably certain that the Republicans have elected 182 members and the Democrats 145, and 3 members are yet to be chosen. This leaves 9 members in dispute, as follows: The 3d Arkansas, claimed by the Democrats, though not with confidence; the 4th California is in doubt, with chances apparently equal; the 6th Illinois is claimed by the Republicans; 2d, 4th and 6th Louisiana, claimed by Democrats apparently on very slender grounds; 6th Maryland, claimed by the Democrats by a very small majority, and the same remark applies to the 3d and 7th Missouri, the majority asserted in the former being but one. It should be added that the Republican candidates in the 3d and 4th Massachusetts districts have asked for a re-count of the votes.

The Southern Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The following paragraph is taken from the double leaded editorial in the Chronicle and Sentinel of Augusta, Ga., which reached here this afternoon:

"Republicans pretend to be hopeful of Florida, and in order to secure the vote of that State, have offered large sums of money. It is ascertained from good sources that the Republican party managers have offered millions for the electoral vote of Florida. This information was telegraphed yesterday from a large cotton house in New York. Steps were taken immediately to prevent fraud being perpetrated."

South Carolina Board of Canvassers.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 13.—The board of State canvassers met at 10 o'clock to-day, Hayne, Stone, Purvis, Dunn and Cordoza being present. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That the board hear oral arguments on the point of their authority to throw out votes on account of intimidation in canvassing the returns for Presidential electors, and that the argument be limited to half an hour on each side." Gen. Jas. Conner, on behalf of the Democratic candidates, submitted the following paper, stating objections to the jurisdiction of the board: "On behalf of the citizens of the State whom we represent, and of the Democratic candidates of the State, we submit that all the acts of the general assembly authorizing the board of State canvassers to hear and decide all cases under protest or contest that may arise in regard to the election of electors for President and Vice President, members of Congress, and all officers elected at any general election held in this State, are in violation of the 20th paragraph of the constitution, and therefore void. And, in behalf of the parties aforesaid, we demand that the board of canvassers now assembled shall not hear or decide any such cases, but shall only act ministerially in ascertaining, from the returns and statements of the local canvassers, the persons who have received the greatest number of votes for the offices for which they were respectively candidates, and declare the same and certify it to the secretary of State."

In behalf of the Democratic citizens he maintained that the board had no power under the constitution to alter the result of the election as announced by the county canvassers, and the State board had no power to change the returns, and could merely consolidate and announce the result.

At the conclusion of the argument the board adjourned until to-morrow morning, when B. B. Elliott, colored, will address the board, claiming that it has ministerial and judicial functions, and that it has the right to canvass and throw out votes in any county where there has been fraud and intimidation.

Up to this evening returns had been received from 18 counties, leaving 14 counties to be heard from. It will take at least a week before the official count is announced. Both parties claim the State. Heavy frauds are charged on both sides. Federal troops have been concentrating here the last two days.

The board went into secret session to consider the point raised. After some deliberation the doors were opened, and Secretary of State, Hayne, president of the board announced that as the point of jurisdiction was a new one they (the board) would like to hear the constitutionality of the question argued, and 1 o'clock was fixed as the hour of hearing arguments. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the board of State canvassers will proceed to canvass the returns for election for President and Vice President, beginning on the 16th day of November, unless returns from all counties have been previously received, and will continue to canvass such returns from day to day until the last day of their session, if it be necessary to do so. The board adjourned to meet at 1 o'clock.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 13.—The board of canvassers heard argument this afternoon from Leroy F. Young.

Democrats Charge Intimidation.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 13.—Democrats to-day filed a protest against the State election in Charleston county. They allege that the whole country was controlled by intimidation and terrorism, and no opportunity to vote was given qualified voters; also that a large number who desired to do so were prevented from voting the Democratic ticket; also the legal number of polls was not opened.

Hayes Carries South Carolina, Etc.

CHARLESTON, Nov. 13.—Hayes has apparently carried the State, even accepting Democratic returns for counties notoriously carried by intimidation and fraud. This is probably true of Louisiana also, but nothing can overawe the returning board into accepting the returns of five parishes where legal evidence is overwhelming of wholesale fraud and intimidation, and that an overwhelming majority of citizens seeming to vote was Republican. Kellogg and friends privately express hearty rejoicing that so many prominent Northerners are to be present to see and hear the proofs. Their conduct is inexplicable unless we believe in the honesty of the claim that Louisiana has gone for Hayes. On the other hand, Tilden's party persisted in proclaiming a Democratic victory in Colorado for ten days. Their motive then was to influence the November canvass. Their motive now is partly to lay the foundation for public excitement when the returning board shall refuse to accept fraudulent returns, and partly to help Democratic gamblers hedge enormous bets in favor of Tilden.

Virginia Elects a Congressman.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A special dispatch from Petersburg says Mr. Jorgerson, Rep., is elected to Congress from the 4th (Virginia) district by over 2,000 majority.

There is a possibility that Dean, Democrat, declared elected to Congress in the 3d district by a majority of seven votes over Walbridge A. Field, Republican, may be beaten by the latter. The committee of board of aldermen having re-counted the votes of the 3d district, find that, counting the 25 ballots cast for Walbridge A. Field in the 4th district, Field has a majority of about 15. The ballots so cast were on a ticket furnished by the temperance party, and were probably deposited with the view of electing Field. City Solicitor Healy has advised the board of aldermen not to count the 25 votes, and the question will probably be left to the Governor and council for decision.

Republican Majority in Florida.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A special correspondent of the Times in Florida, telegraphs from Tallahassee, that if the votes actually cast are fairly counted, the Republican majority will be from 1,200 to 2,000. It can not fall below 1,000 votes.

The Tribune Says Hayes is Elected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Tribune, carefully reviewing the evidence regarding the Louisiana election, coincides with Gov. Kellogg that in five important parishes no free and honest election was held; yet it is solely upon the eight thousand four hundred gain upon their own count in 1874, in these parishes, that the Democrats base their claims to have carried the State. Democrats freely admit large Republican gains in parishes where no violence prevailed, which is prima facie evidence that the enormous Democratic gains in the five disturbed parishes are fraudulent. This gives the key to the conflicting claims.

The Tribune also says that Florida, Louisiana and Colorado are States which have neglected to pass a law specifically providing for filling vacancies occurring in the electoral college. It remains to be ascertained whether the Governors can act under their general power to fill accidental vacancies.

Who Goes South.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Gen. Dix states that he will not be able to go south. Chas. Watrous will start for New Orleans to-night. E. W. Stoughton and Gen. James Van Allyn left last night; also Manton Marble, W. E. Nibloch, Senator Eaton, Gen. W. B. Franklin, M. C. Saltonstal, James O. Broadhead, J. R. Reed, S. J. Thompson.

How Elections are Managed in Florida.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Deputy Marshal Lesup has arrived at Jacksonville, Florida, to report. He telegraphs to-day that the Democrats destroyed ballot boxes in five precincts and accepted votes of people to the number of 200 from Alabama. False certificates have been found in the canvass of Clay county. There has been a general discharge of colored men who voted the Republican ticket, and deposits in the National banks have been withdrawn by Democrats. There is not much excitement, but a good deal of desperation. If all the Democratic frauds are exposed, the Republican majority will be 3,000. The North should know that Florida is not doubtful. The canvass will show an increased Republican majority clear over frauds. Hayes run ahead of the State ticket. We shall hold the fort.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Times' special from Tallahassee says: Evidence accumulates every moment of the most outrageous frauds in Democratic counties where there was no protection for the Republican minority, the polls being entirely in the hands of our opponents. In some cases the ballot boxes could not be seen and ballots were burned before they left the precincts. When the bottom of the facts are made to appear the entire country will be satisfied that our State is honestly and fairly Republican by a majority of least at 1,000 or 1,200. Until it is so settled by indisputable evidence, the country should judge Gov. Sterns and his associates in the conduct of this canvass by the records. When the present administration came into power in 1872, Florida bonds and scrip were selling at about 50c, and now they are quoted at 95 to 97c. Immigration has been greater and the value of the bonds has increased more rapidly than in any State in the Union.

Presto! Change!

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Times' Tallahassee special says: Directly after the election Tilden was supposed to be chosen, the Democrats conceded Florida to Hayes; but when it was telegraphed that Tilden was not elected if Florida had gone Republican, a new phase was put on the situation. Suddenly, without having received advices from remote counties, they reversed their former publicly expressed opinions of the result, and loudly declaring that if Tilden's election depended upon their vote, he should have it. They stated that their majority was at least 25,000, they set about doctoring the returns to make that majority. They are engaged in the same work now.

The Sun almost Surrenders.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The Sun confesses the electoral vote in South Carolina is close, and has a dispatch, whereof the following is an extract: "The desire and hope of every sensible patriotic Republican must now be that Tilden may be declared elected and inaugurated as President. He is already proved to have 184 undisputed, unquestioned electoral votes. There is every reason to believe Florida has given him four more, though this is contradicted by ardent and passionate Republican politicians and office-holders interested in their own re-election. Louisiana has in all probability gone for him, giving him eight more electoral votes, as she gave his party a majority four years ago, and has continued to do so at every subsequent election, and this is only disputed by Kellogg and his returning board, and in their assertion no one can place the least confidence. In South Carolina, too, it is claimed by the Democrats, with every probability in their favor, that Tilden has a small majority, and that claim will be maintained to the end by the Democrats, and will be admitted and believed by a very considerable and the most intelligent portion of the Republican party. Nevertheless, if the scheme is carried through—if, amid all doubt, conflict and alarm, Hayes is proclaimed President—we have no doubt that such a result, if accompanied with the forms of law, will be submitted to by all parties. There will be no Mexican outbreak, no attempted insurrection, no matter how great the wrong done to the convictions and to the conscience of a great proportion of the people, no matter how enormous the damage inflicted upon business or property."

The Same old Thing.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A Times Columbia special says: The Register, a Democratic organ to-day asserts that Tilden will have 100 majority in the State. The Republican committee is confident Hayes will have an undisputed majority of 1,000, and a real majority of 7,000 in Charleston. The duty of keeping the public peace has been placed in the hands of Hunt, commander of the United States forces, by joint action of the Republican city authorities and a committee of prominent Democrats. Recent returns have produced antagonism among races which bids great peril. The city police were composed about equally of whites and blacks, and fraternization of each color with its own in case of riot was believed to be inevitable; hence the calling out of another authority is regarded as a blessing. These white women and children suffering peculiarly in their dread of colored female servants who are known to be far more exasperated at the present attitude of affairs than the men. All appear to be quiet in this city, but the white leaders of the Democratic party have worked up intense hostility among the lower order of the whites against Chamberlain. Better informed conservatives have confidence in his coolness of judgment and upright intentions.

Intimidation in North Carolina.

GREENSBORO, Nov. 13.—The chairman of the Republican State committee has already taken steps to secure evidence to show that frauds and intimidation were resorted to by Democrats in this State. He believes that on fair returns Judge Settle would have been elected by at least 10,000 majority.

The Ante-Bellum Spirit.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 13.—The News, leading Democratic organ, says that "Northern people will now proceed northward," and the spirit of its article is such as to incite the passions of the people against citizens of northern birth. If such a calamity as the election of Tilden should take place, northern people will be forcibly driven from the South, if the advice of such papers as the News is heeded.

Overriding the Law.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—A Times' special from Petersburg, Va., says, 7,700 Republican votes were thrown out in the Fourth Congressional district. This was done in open and gross violation of State law by election officers appointed by Democratic judges. Unusual care was taken to draw their attention to special law providing for such cases, but in defiance of it, particularly in Nottaway.

Watching the Count.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—The following prominent party leaders are at the St. Charles hotel, having arrived via Jackson: Judge Doolittle, Senator Lyman Trumbull, Perry H. Smith, Chicago; George B. Smith, Springfield, Ill.; Gov. John H. Palmer, Ill; John W. Stevenson, Ky.; George W. Julian, Indianapolis; J. R. Stall, Stanley Matthews, Ed. F. Noyes, J. F. Stevens, Cincinnati; Gen. McDonald, F. B. McDonald, John O. Love, N. Munson, Indianapolis; W. F. Hamilton, L. V. Bogy, St. Louis; William Norris, Illinois; George B. Martin, Charles Gibson, St. Louis; George B. Smith, Wis; J. O. Broadhead, St. Louis; D. Hare, Major Beardsley, C. B. Farwell, Abner Taylor, Ill.; C. Irving Denty, Maryland.

The Latest from South Carolina.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Judge D. K. Carter, of the supreme court of Columbia, S. C., at the request of the President, to be present at the canvass of the vote of South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 13.—The State board of canvassers decline to furnish information concerning the election. They say that not more than two or three counties have been heard from officially. The Democrats have their figures from one representative on each board of county managers. They have no doubt of the election of the Democratic ticket and Tilden's election is claimed by a smaller vote.

Secretary Chandler Denies.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Secretary Chandler says there is no foundation whatever for the report telegraphed from New Orleans to some Northern journals that he has telegraphed to Gov. Kellogg that Louisiana must be counted for Hayes at all hazards, and that Kellogg has given assurance that it will be so counted. Secretary Chandler emphatically denies that he has either asked or conveyed such a message.

Secretary Chandler Confident.

Secretary Chandler had an interview with the President to-day. He expressed his confidence that Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina had gone for Hayes.

Vermont Electoral Vacancy Provided For.

MONTPELIER, Nov. 13.—The disqualification of Henry A. Sollace, one of the Republican electors who is postmaster at Bridgeport, will make no difference in the electoral vote of the State, as by State laws the legislature can fill the vacancy.

Hayes' Majority in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 13.—Semi-official returns from all counties of Ohio are now in and show a majority for Hayes of 7,332.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Official returns from 55 counties in this State give Hayes 14,980 majority, leaving 11 counties to hear from, which, in 1875, gave a Republican majority of 61.

The Vermont Postmaster Resigns.

BOSTON, Nov. 13.—Henry C. Sollace, of Bridgeport, Vt., Republican presidential elector, against whose eligibility a question has been raised on the ground of his holding the office of postmaster, in an interview to-day stated that his resignation as postmaster is already in the hands of the Postmaster General.

Watterson on the Louisiana Affair.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The following was received to-day by the Chicago Tribune from Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who is in New Orleans: "New Orleans is as quiet as ever. The people cannot be goaded into an outbreak. The question presented you is, shall the American people be cheated of their free choice and their free government by a handful of desperate adventurers—Kellogg, Warmouth and Packard—backed by the President and the military arm of the nation? These reckless persons, followed by an army of plantation hands, are arrayed against the responsible elements of society in Louisiana. Nobody's life is in danger, nor anybody's liberty. Is it possible that you can place the word of worthless vagabonds against that of every property-holder, banker, business man and bona fide citizen in Louisiana.

The Tribune replies editorially in scathing terms, rebuking Mr. Watterson with the assumption that negroes have no interest in the government, that they are vagabonds, while in fact they do far the greater part of the actual labor done in the South, and they have not as much right under the constitution to be considered as their more polished, but less principled former owners. The Tribune this morning published an editorial in effect arguing that no ballots could legally be thrown out even in the bull-dogged parishes, but to-morrow the paper, while not apologizing for that position, has taken almost the opposite view of the case.

Louisiana Returns.

The Inter-Ocean's New Orleans special says official returns come in slowly, but those received to-night are favorable to the Republicans and show large gains in the parishes of Avoyelles and East Baton Rouge. The Republican gain on the vote heretofore reported is 1,102. Official returns just received have reduced the estimated Democratic vote in the following parishes: Bienneville 524, Sabine 160, Red River 70, Rapids 488, Webster 32, Winne 112. There is no doubt Hayes has carried the State by a very handsome majority. The State laws provide that five persons from all parties shall be elected by the Senate and the returning officers for all elections in the State. In case of vacancy by resignation, death or otherwise, the vacancy shall be filled by the residue of the returning officers within ten days after election. They shall canvass and compile the statements of the commissioners for elections, and continue in session till the canvass and compilation is complete.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Republicans state they have information that East Baton Rouge has gone Republican by 30 majority. The Democrats claimed it by 600 on Saturday night, and the city was put down at 9,700 majority for the Democrats. The official count shows 10,000 majority. Additional returns from parishes not changed the result as telegraphed Saturday. Of the votes polled, the Democrats appear to have about 60% majority. The Republicans, however, still claim they have carried the State and that Packard will be the next Governor.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—The Democratic committee have complete returns made out from duplicate lists of the supervisors', showing Tilden's majority in the State to be 8,107, by which majority they claim they have carried the State. The returns show Nichols' majority to be nearly 9,000. This city is very quiet. The citizens are anxiously awaiting the action of the board which by law is required to meet 10 days after the election.

Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 13.—Latest returns from this (3d) Congressional district indicate the election of Cravens (Dem.) over McClure (Rep.)

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—The chief object of speculation at the political headquarters here to-night seems to be as to the result of Congressional elections in the Third and Fourth districts. Republicans feel somewhat less sanguine of Pacheco's election, but on the contrary, are much encouraged by the official vote of Butte county, which gives McKenna 183 over Luttrell, to which the latter may yet pull out district. As to investigation of the city election, which is to begin to-morrow, they roundly claim that if pushed to legitimate conclusions it will show that Hayes should have carried the city by at least 3,000 majority. Piper is reported as saying that he has not the slightest intention of contesting his opponent's election.

At noon to-day the board of supervisors by the committee appointed for that purpose began the canvass of election returns in this city in the presence of a large number of prominent gentlemen of both parties. The canvass was completed about 4 P. M., but the footing of columns will not be made public until to-morrow morning. Figures as made up informal give Hayes 21,280; Tilden 20,498; Davis for Congress 22,114; Piper 19,373, from which result not materially vary. When the returns from the Third Ward were called, Frank McCoppin presented a statement to the effect that Richard C. Hute, who had nominated the officers of election in that ward, two of whom were subsequently replaced by others on application to the board of supervisors, had forcibly prevented substitutes from acting. He therefore requested that the matter be investigated, making no protest against the opening of the returns, as he considered the better way was to open them and subsequently inquire into the question of legality. On being opened, they were found to be signed by only the judge, and two inspectors. A motion was made to receive them under protest, but was subsequently withdrawn. In the fourth precinct of the ninth ward it was discovered that the election officers had forgotten to enclose the tally list, but after some discussion the omission was remedied by the affidavits of the officers of election, and the canvass was completed.

SAN BERNAVENTURA, Nov. 13.—Ventura county official count gives Hayes 18 majority, Pacheco 132 majority.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Prince Ghika of Roumania, has arrived in this city.

A Times dispatch from Berlin says Russian papers abound in warlike reports. It is rumored Russia is likely to obtain in Holland advance of money upon large amounts of railroad shares.

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—A correspondent of the Times confirms the report that mobilization of the Russian army will be ordered in a few days. He adds that Russia will send a note to the powers which it is said will explain that as all the powers have agreed about reforms to be demanded of Turkey, Russia thinks their fulfillment only possible, if she proposes to defend them. The same correspondent mentions the rumor that the Porte has made representations in London against the scheme for conference, that it is opposed to Constantinople being selected as the place of meeting, and to exclusion of Bulgaria. The first of these objections can only refer to the preliminary meeting of the representatives of the Powers from which Turkey would be excluded.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Various correspondents confirm the report that Turkey has raised objections to the conference proposed. The Times considers Turkey is thereby fruitlessly endeavoring to create dissensions among the European powers.

The News' Vienna correspondent states that the Czar made his speech at Moscow two hours before receiving telegraphic report of Lord Beaconsfield's speech at the Mansion House.

English Views of the Eastern Question.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Sir Stafford Northcote, chancellor of exchequer, speaking at a conservative banquet in Bristol to-night, alluded to the Eastern complication. He said the powers were not actuated by jealousy; he believed the Czar's speech had been misunderstood. He would not attempt to forecast what would happen if the conference failed, but he believed there was every reasonable probability of a peaceful settlement. Robert Lowe also spoke at Bristol to-night at a dinner of the Liberal party. He declared there was imminent impossibility of England's engaging in a war of which every Englishman ought to be ashamed. He deprecated Lord Beaconsfield's defiance of Russia. He thought the proposed conference would lead to no good, and feared the peace of Europe was in imminent jeopardy.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—The newspapers here announce that the Porte has decided he cannot state his views as to the proposal for a conference until he knows what points will be discussed.

Battalions from Yemen, Damascus and Aleppo, pass through Constantinople daily, en route for Schumla. The fleet of Turkish iron-clads is being divided into four squadrons, one of which will remain in the Bosphorus, two cruisers in the Mediterranean, and the other under command of Admiral Hobart Pasha, to cruise in the Black sea.

What the Governmeat will do at the Death of the Pope.

The Cologne Gazette publishes a report which has been presented to the King of Italy by his ministers, regarding measures to be taken by the Italian government at the death of His Holiness the Pope. The ministers propose immediately after the Pope's death to occupy the neighborhood of the Vatican by the military. The Prefect of Rome will request certain papal officials to assist at viewing the body and other necessary formalities. If this be refused the Prefect will forcibly enter the Vatican, accompanied by the Questor and also by physicians, notaries and witnesses, who, after viewing the body, will send a certificate of inquest to the cardinal and deacons. A seal will be attached to the furniture in the Pope's department and remain so until after removal of the body. After 24 hours the body will be at the disposal of the clergy. The report recommends that the Prefect be instructed, after viewing the Pope's body, to take possession of the most important papal insignia, including the fisherman's ring, and deliver them, with the certificate of inquest to the Cardinal deacon.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

There appears to be a very general realization of the seriousness of the situation arising out of the Southern complications in the Presidential election; and yet it is possible to conceive of such troubles resulting from it as no one at present contemplates. The votes of the people have been cast, or as many of them as could be cast with a feeling of perfect safety. It is charged that many votes were prevented from voting by fear of personal harm at the hands of their opponents. No doubt some did withhold their votes from this cause, but how many, no one will ever know. The charge is not without foundation, but it may safely be assumed that it is greatly exaggerated. It may be safely assumed that all of those who thus took counsel of fear and denied themselves the privilege of the ballot, a considerable proportion could have voted with perfect safety, the number who did vote, but contrary to their individual preferences, because they feared the consequences of doing otherwise, or because they hoped by doing so to secure for themselves favor and advantage in their private affairs, is undoubtedly in excess of the non-voting class. It is these votes in Louisiana and South Carolina that, if cut down Hayes' vote to the nominal figure he gets, if he carries those States. What will the returning boards do in such a case? Will they count the vote as returned to them by the several parishes and counties, or will they go behind the certificates of the boards of election, and investigate the vote? Upon their course in this it seems at least probable the election may turn.

The returning boards, or State canvassing boards, are not judicial bodies. Whether they have authority to look behind the returns to them depends on the laws of the several States. In the nature of things, it would seem they ought to be vested with power to purge the returns, especially in those States where there is no remedy in the courts for the wrong that may be done the country by such abuses as we have referred to, or by the more and more bare-faced species of fraud commonly called repeating. Still, it must be overlooked that any such power by the returning board would necessarily be in a greater or less degree arbitrary and altogether wanting in that which the nature of judicial inquiry requires. Their decision after investigation would not have the effect of quieting the public mind, which would follow a judicial examination. It is questionable whether they should be vested with such power, and therefore whether returning boards to count votes that are returned by the local authorities to future legislation, should be left to those to whom is distrusted the conducting of the election, the correction of this evil would certainly be difficult in all except the most flagrant cases, such as would admit of no dispute. Suppose, for instance, that of the Presidential vote South Carolina, as it very likely it does, and ought to be certified by the local canvassing board should give the majority, but the board of canvassers should go into an investigation of the vote, and, by casting out a considerable number of the certified votes, give the State to Tilden. Would the latter be installed? Would the people quietly submit? It is extremely doubtful if they would. It is extremely doubtful whether they ought to do so, or to regard it as a choice between submission to such a decision and the resort to force to be met in attempting to enforce it. It is clearly outside the range of possible adjustment to be supposed that it will be accepted by all parties as fair. If Hayes got the vote of Louisiana and South Carolina, a majority of Democrats, if they always believe they were defrauded in the count; if they believe the Republicans will feel that their victory has been robbed them by fraud once at the ballot box. This is apparent in the tone of the press comments and the utterances of prominent politicians of both parties. The feeling is intense, and the tendency to disorders under any so-called question immediately presented to avoid an actual conflict, and to secure a cheerful acquiescence of the people in the results—a matter of the highest importance in popular government—is an honest count and honest-declared result, no matter how disagreeable the result may be, are the first requisites. In this critical moment all parties, directly or indirectly concerned in the counting of the votes should consider interests far above those of any party involved, and that in proportion to the magnitude of these interests is the measure of responsibility, and the urgency of the demand for a conscientious and patriotic discharge of their duties. The safety of the Republic depends more upon a fair and honest count of the vote than on the success of either party.

THE WAR WHOOP.

The Democratic organ of this city raises a war whoop over the Louisiana election without so much as waiting to see if it has won the State. In yesterday's issue we find this editorial proclamation of war as the alternative in case the Democrats are found to be in the minority in the State. The people of the country are satisfied that Louisiana has carried these three States on a fair vote, and that nothing but fraud can elect Tilden. There would be no contest over these States if Congress was Republican. They would be thrown out. But to do so now, would throw the election into the present House, which is strongly Democratic. The Democrats are in a bad fix, and the corrupt element of the party being in favor of holding on at all hazards, whether by fraud or force, are doing their best to drive the party to it. They would falsify the returns. This is a dangerous proceeding, and the Radical managers may as well understand the matter now as hereafter, that if Samuel J. Tilden has received an honest majority of the electoral votes of the United States, he will be inaugurated the next President. The Democracy of this country will submit quietly to an honest defeat, but to fraud they will not.

It is to be hoped the intelligent and orderly portion of the Democratic party will not allow themselves to be carried away by this inflammatory style of discussion. He is a poor counselor who counsels at this time anything but moderation in party demands, and submission to wrong rather than violence. The New York Sun is right when it says that we want no Mexican outbreak, even though a wrong be done. It was wittily said at the close of the war, that there would be no difficulty in bringing about a reconciliation between those who had fought in the war, but it requires the highest skill of the statesman to keep the non-combatants from fighting. This seems to be verified in the present complication, when Democratic editors who never drew a sword nor went within 2,000 miles of a battle, bluster about force and resistance and the like. We trust sober counsels will prevail among the Democrats, and that they will see the wisdom of submitting in case they are defeated.

IN THE MATTER OF IDIOCY.

The silly attempt of the OREGONIAN to be sarcastic and funny at Senator Kelly's expense, was rightfully nipped in the bud, and we sincerely trust that the next time that falsehoods have to be told in efforts to be funny, that they be confined to gentlemen hardly so prominent as a United States Senator. We consider the bogus dispatch purporting to have been sent to Senator Kelly's wife an outrage on common decency—to say nothing of the pretensions of journalism, and if the charge of idiocy rests anywhere, it is in the editorial chair of the OREGONIAN.—Standard.

The OREGONIAN never had the remotest idea of being "funny" at the expense of Senator Kelly or anybody else. An Eastern dispatch stated that Senator Kelly had telegraphed his wife at Washington that the election in Oregon was very close with chances of a small Democratic majority; and the OREGONIAN, referring to the dispatch, in all seriousness, and without the slightest notion that it was saying anything "funny," pronounced the sending of such a dispatch idiotic. The next day Senator Kelly sent a card to this paper, which we published, in which he agreed with us that the sending of such a dispatch would have been a proper ground for a charge of idiocy against him; but said he had sent no such dispatch. So there is no quarrel between us and Senator Kelly. He agrees that we were right in saying the sending of such a dispatch would have been conclusive evidence of idiocy, and we in turn accepted his denial of the authorship of the telegram as conclusive.

But we were not aware that a Senator of the United States was a sacred person, as the Standard would have us believe, and were to be exempt from remark when other men would be freely criticised. Upon what meat do these United States Senators feed, that they are lifted up so high above other people? If Kelly inspired the paragraph above quoted from the Standard, we are much afraid it was not in the fact of idiocy but in the evidence of it, that we erred.

OREGON.

The winter term of the Albany Collegiate Institute begun on Monday of this week.

Snow fell in the Klickitat valley one day last week to the depth of near two inches. This was the first of the season.

The Indians about Pendleton are becoming very saucy. It is thought that some white scamp "lower down than the Injun," is giving them whisky.

The electors on the Cooper and Carey ticket in Marion county received votes as follows: Daniel Clark 24, F. Sutherlin 23, Bart Curl 22. S. W. McDowell received one vote for Congress.

Circuit court commenced at the Dalles on Monday. Judge E. D. Shattuck will preside, owing to the absence of Judge McArthur at Baker City, who is holding a special term of court to try the case of the State against Shepardson for highway robbery.

Frank A. Brown, formerly of Baker City, shot and killed a man named Bullen, at Sparta, Union county, last Saturday. We have heard that the shooting was in self-defense, and was considered justifiable by almost everybody who was at the scene of the shooting.

Dr. La Dow's position as physician to the Umatilla reservation becoming vacant by his recent departure, Dr. McKay, a very skillful physician and surgeon, has been appointed to the place. The appointment is a good one, and the Doctor is also a favorite with the Indians.

Owing to the fact that the quantity of freight has greatly decreased, the O. S. N. Co. will only run one boat for the balance of the season on the upper river to Wallula. Passengers will leave The Dalles on Tuesdays and Saturdays, arriving there on Mondays and Thursdays.

The little son, aged two years, of G. W. Swaggart, was drowned Oct. 20th, at the residence of James Clark, residing on the ranch of Ad. Nye, near Weston. The child's absence was noticed by its mother, and she went in quest of him. Her feelings can be imagined when she found him lying in a pond of water.

The Mountaineer says: "We have examined a small quantity of the silver-bearing soapy substance brought from the new mines on Camp Creek, in this county, and find that it contains decomposed quartz. There is no doubt but what it contains silver, and that assay made by Capt. Fisk, of Portland, was on the 'square.'"

The annual city election took place at Baker City last Monday. No politics entered into the contest. There were 119 votes polled. The following are the newly elected city trustees: C. M. Foster, A. P. Weller, S. A. Heilner, Thomas Parker and J. B. Hulsey; city marshal, T. M. Britten; recorder, H. C. Durkee; treasurer, Geo. H. Tracy.

Mr. R. Booton, a cattle herder for Col. Nye, while engaged in driving cattle into the scales at Hood's stables, at The Dalles, on Wednesday evening last, was run upon by a large steer, and came near meeting with a serious accident. As it was, his horse was knocked down and one of his hind legs broken. Mr. Booton escaped without injury.

NOTES FROM SALEM.

SALEM, Nov. 12, 1876.

It has been our good fortune in times past, to witness in the Eastern States exciting events of various kinds, and almost unbearable suspense as well, when, during "war times" we awaited with almost bated breath the result of expected conflicts on the battlefield, when the telegraph office and other avenues of information would be literally besieged with an excited multitude for a few hours, perhaps, and all would be a scene of tumultuous expectancy, and all quieted, perhaps, in a brief time by the receipt of reliable news deciding the momentous question. Suspense of that kind, however, was trifling when compared with that endured during the last few days in this and every city and hamlet throughout the land over the vexed question as to which of the two candidates,

HAYES OR TILDEN,

Is to be our chief executive during the ensuing four years. No sooner had the polls closed in this city, than the crowd commenced congregating in and around the telegraph office, anxious to hear the news from outside precincts. One by one they were heard from, and Republicans congratulated themselves on the rousing majority sent out by old Marion Multnomah's greeting was then received, and Williams' election secured beyond a doubt. Then came Clackamas and Douglas counties, as well as the wonderfully reduced Democratic majority in old Linn, and we knew full well Oregon's electoral vote would be cast for Hayes and Wheeler. Cheer after cheer rent the air, and the verdict was universal among party friends that Oregon had done nobly. About 10 o'clock the Eastern dispatches commenced coming through, the first of which, you remember, were anything but encouraging to Republicans.

DEMOCRACY SEEMED TRIUMPHANT,

And, lustily they yelled. Private telegrams, but confirmed the worst, and our boys were despondent for the time being. The unterrified liquored up and had things pretty much their own way. Wisconsin seemed doubtful and large sums of money were staked on the result in that State, Republicans staid with her nobly, and hundreds of dollars changed hands when it became officially known she had gone for Hayes and Wheeler. It was after one o'clock when the telegraph office closed, and Republicans all but conceded Tilden's election. Wednesday's dispatches were more favorable and it was our day to crow. The returns kept coming in until representatives of both parties become so thoroughly mixed up it was difficult to tell "which one of the boys they were." Then it was that we all relied on the OREGONIAN editorials to keep us posted on the general result. It has since been "nip and tuck" with little to indicate anything really definite. One day or hour rather, the Republican thermometer would be way up, another it would fall a trifle, when again it would shoot up "among the nineties" and

SATURDAY EVENING

Secretary Morrill's dispatch to the Rothschilds sent Republican spirits up, up, way up, and to-day we feel assured of Hayes' election. Democrats—that is, the reasonable ones—concede Tilden's defeat, while Republicans quietly rejoice over their victory. The sanctity of the Sabbath even has not allayed the excitement or abated the interest as manifested by the crowds on Commercial and State streets, who are talking over the situation. While we can but regret the majority for Hayes is so small, we can also rejoice in realizing that a majority of one is as good as forty if fairly and honestly acquired. Prominent Democrats have already said that while Hayes would probably be counted in by the electoral vote, a Democratic House of Representatives would count him out. This but shows the disposition of some of the rabble, whose aspirations have been defeated by the voice of the people. We can but hope and firmly believe, party differences will be amicably adjusted, and that let who may be elected national affairs will run along smoothly once more.

CAPITAL NOTES.

After two weeks' vacation, the State printers will commence work to-morrow on the session laws and journals.

Miss Sarah Roberts, of Portland, is visiting friends in Salem.

Election bets are still in order, some of the more enthusiastic indulging in them to even this late day.

The city council met last evening to take into consideration the feasibility of purchasing a Babcock fire extinguisher and truck for the use of the fire department in this city. They concluded to await the arrival and examine the working of the one purchased for the city of East Portland.

The city election will now furnish food for thought for the average Salemite. It takes place the first Monday in December. Prof. Gatch is spoken of in connection with the mayoralty, and Miles M. Miller and Wm. G. Stanton as candidates for the office of city treasurer.

A well-known bachelor, with rooms in Patton's block, has a habit of gathering and preserving ladies' bows, and has some fifty or sixty, of all shapes, sizes and colors, fancifully arranged over his chamber door. "Only that and nothing more" suggestive of the opposite sex.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Brown had the misfortune to lose their six year-old daughter this week. She was a lovely child, and the idol of the parents' hearts, who have the sympathy of the entire community in this their sore bereavement. Bishop Morris officiated at the funeral ceremonies.

A. H. Wilson has accepted the position of night watchman at the capitol building.

The weather is warm and cloudy with indications of rain.

The Willamette Collegian will appear this week under the editorial management of L. H. Wells and Charles M. Johns, with Redington & Rice as publishers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Adair lost their little daughter Ida this morning, aged about eight years, of diphtheria.

The Alka and Athenæum literary societies held a reunion on Friday last.

The sere and yellow leaf literally carpet the Salem sidewalks at the present time.

A Turkish bath has been talked of as about to be established in this city. Verily we are becoming high toned.

J. G. Holbert's candy manufactory has suspended operations, and a new one is about to be opened by Cooper & Laughead.

Farmers are busy plowing, and the plow trade is correspondingly brisk in agricultural implement houses.

Thomas Smith, Esq., formerly host of the Chemeketa Hotel, is negotiating for the lease of a Seattle house. He will take his family to Portland during the ensuing week. We certainly wish him abundant success.

It is rumored the Chemeketa is soon to be reopened with Wesley Graves as landlord.

The Salem bridge question continues to agitate the public mind.

A contemplated amateur theatrical company is the last and latest sensation in the Capital City.

Capt Mounts, a seafaring man, will lecture at Reed's Opera House, Wednesday evening.

Rubber clothing at Kohn's clothing palace.

The Centennial Commission unanimously ratified the action of the judges, and the public will indorse the decision of these umpires of mechanical experts. A claim of equally distinguished honor for any other sewing machine is only an attempt to hoodwink the people. This stamps the "New Wheeler & Wilson" as the standard sewing machine of the world. Captains and pilots will note the fact that Peter Wilhelm has fitted up two rooms for their especial use at the Fountain, corner Ash and First streets. English papers on file shortly and everything cosy.

W. L. ADAMS, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. Is extraordinarily successful in treating female complaints.

Sore eyes speedily relieved. The worst form of piles cured, and the most malignant cancers eradicated root and branch without the use of the knife, or the money refunded.

BAPTIST CHINESE MISSION SCHOOL.

This benevolent institution for the elevation of the Chinese in our city was opened two years ago to-day, and the baptism of one of its pupils called together a large congregation at the Baptist church, last Sunday evening, to listen to the annual reports of the school and addresses from several of the pupils. Promptly at 6 o'clock, forty of the Chinese pupils were in their places and sang, with earnestness, "Stand up, Stand up for Jesus." After prayer and another song from the Gospel Hymns and Sacred Songs belonging to the Chinese Young Men's Christian Association, Dr. S. J. Barber, superintendent of the Sunday evening school, gave his annual report.

The question is often asked whether the Chinese mind is capable of receiving spiritual ideas. We all know how quickly they catch the objects presented to the eye. I am persuaded, after careful observation, that they do gain spiritual ideas as readily as any other people could do with the same partial knowledge of the language in which the ideas are presented. They are eager to hear and quick to discuss the doctrines of Christianity. The Young Men's Chinese Christian Association now numbers thirty-two members, all pledged against evil practices and having renounced idolatry. They are liberal to the call of charity. They have just paid the funeral expenses of one of their number, which, with the doctor's bills, amounts to about $300.

Much praise is due to the teachers, who have generously labored with enthusiasm through the year. Their faithfulness is fully appreciated by the pupils. The average attendance for the year is thirty-six, nearly as large as that of the English school.

Several weeks since, the pupils passed a vote of thanks to Dr. Barber for his efficient work among them, and asked the church to reappoint him for the ensuing year. Their request was cordially granted, and he will, no doubt, continue to gather round him the best workers of the community in this praiseworthy labor.

After another spirited song, five short articles, arranged in haste on one week's notice, by as many members of the school, were presented, and seemed to elicit general favor.

Rev. Dong Gong, the school missionary, with whose careful management the school has been bound together with the ties of love, spoke upon Peter's vision of the "common or unclean," declaring as God is above in all things, it is for him to decide what is unclean, and while "men make many races, God knows but two classes,—the good and the bad."

Wo Gow spoke of David fighting Goliah successfully, through God's help, and called upon all not to fear the giant, but trust in God, and go ahead in a good cause.

Jose told of his former worship of images, and said: I did know enough to love my own dear father and mother, but I did not love my Heavenly Father and Jesus, who did so much for me." I believe he prayed, 'Father forgive them for my sake. I will go into that wicked world and die to win them back to Thee.'"

Seid Cue, one of the firm of Wing Hing & Co., Alder street, told the experience of the brother whose death was mentioned in these columns last week.

They all spoke quite plainly, though with strong foreign accent. During the entire exercises the audience increased and the house was now crowded to its utmost capacity when the secretary of the board of directors made the following report of the Chinese Christian Mission in Portland, Oregon. In Scribner's Monthly for October, in a generally instructive article, the writer says: "There are a certain number of good and well meaning people, (men and women) in San Francisco who have established a certain number of thoroughly sectarian missions in which, according to the reports read at regular meetings or services—several Chinese men and women, are annually turned from heathen darkness to Christian light. In their unworldly simplicity, they are not perhaps sufficiently shrewd to see that a thorough and free tuition in English is a great inducement to conversion."

It might be a just retort to answer that many benevolent societies are at work to-day with general favor in America, who openly profess to win men's hearts from crime and sin by kindness and proper aid in securing situations, giving useful instructions, etc. Instance charity hospitals, Y. M. C. associations, religious intelligence offices, homes for the friendless, etc. With the political aspect of the Chinese question we are not at present concerned. They are here by leave of government and can only be removed by treaty or treason. If either should prevail, we, as believers in Christ's commission, desire to send with them the seeds of gospel truth. If they remain, a broad Christian education is the only remedy for the evils freely acknowledged by all to be connected with their present condition. The nation which boasts of the powers of the public school system, and seeks to educate the German, the Irish and the negro, to make them better citizens, can ill afford to sneer at the love of instruction found in the Chinaman, even though the usual amount of selfishness be involved in its reception; and much less is it praiseworthy when conversion from Joss to Jesus, however superficial, brings an ever increasing sympathy with American civilization.

While we acknowledge the difficulty of the Chinese problem on this coast, we desire to present a few facts which have come under our own observation, in connection with the Chinese of Portland, Oregon.

On the 11th of November 1874, Rev. E. Z. Simmons, late returned missionary to China, and Dong Gong, a Chinese convert of the San Francisco Baptist mission school, who had suffered the loss of all things by a heathen father rather than yield his faith, arrived in our city by invitation of the Baptist church.

They soon arranged a plan of action with a committee appointed from the church, rented a hall and invited the Chinese population to receive instruction in the English language and the Christian doctrine. November 13th the school opened with seventy five scholars, but soon settled with forty five, and with a few changes, has continued five evenings per week, during two full school years without sensible diminution of attendance. Thirteen of the original scholars are still in school. Twenty of last year's scholars have returned to its tuition. Classes are formed containing from four to eight persons, and young people teach four evenings per week—one hour each—receiving one dollar per month from each scholar. Several teachers have returned the amount to the school fund, preferring to teach gratuitously. The scholars learn the alphabet in a single evening. The first, second and third readers are used in succession. Writing is to them a pleasant exercise, and many excel in it. Some study geography, and counting exercises are quickly comprehended. A class is about to be formed in astronomy, by their request. Though they have no harmony in Chinese music, they readily learn the Christian songs from the instrument, and enjoy vocal music intensely. Our school now sings nearly one half the Gospel hymns of Moody and Sankey's collection with good effect. Every school session is closed with singing and prayer. On Thursday evenings and Sunday morning the missionary Dong Gong conducts a religious service and on Sunday evening a Sabbath school is held. In these services no English is taught, except as drawn from the Bible lesson; yet the average attendance is but little less than the English school, the average of the Sabbath school being 36 the past year. What are the results? After three months' attendance one of the pupils left for Astoria. His heathen uncle had removed him from all Christian influence, and had threatened to disown him if he did not forget the school. His teacher wrote him a Christian letter. In his reply (March 21, 1875) he said: "I know you can only pray for me. I hope you will ask God to keep me, for I am walking the way of difficulty, and if find myself ready to ask him for he is sure to walk in the King's highway. I pray that will you help me know Christ so that I may soon be able to enter the wicket gate."

This boy had before attended the Episcopal school, but this was his first confession of faith. It led the teachers to inquire into the religious condition of their pupils. Ten of the number declared themselves believers in Christ, were carefully examined by the pastor and elder and by the church and were accepted. Seven stood pointed unbelief, testimonies that one member who voted against their reception on the ground of inferiority of race deserted himself fully convinced of their Christian character.

Two of these boys lost good positions as clerks for their heathen relatives, and considerable money for their course. They were offered larger wages if they would recant, and refused entrance to the store became of their firmness. Were they converted for money?

In October following two others were received, and in November two more. They were not urged forward, but restrained until tried in many ways. All but one of these are to-day living Christian lives, and nearly all are active in their prayer meetings. One was baptized Nov. 12, 1876, another is to be baptized this evening, while his companion, delayed from his baptism by the pastor's illness, was taken sick and died in full and fervent faith of salvation through Christ. As he had not openly pledged himself as a Christian by membership, I thought he might renounce his faith in nearing death, but on his last day he sung the Christian song "Sweet By and Bye," and reiterated his faith in Christ.

There are now over thirty members formed in a "Young Men's Christian Association," pledged not to gamble, eat opium, or visit houses of ill repute, who meet weekly to study the Christian doctrine in Chinese. Those breaking the rules are promptly expelled.

They are original in their Christian experience and positive in their opinions, though teachable and forgiving.

From the moment of their first examination of the Bible, Joss is neglected. Infidelity is the first step. Faith in the Christian's God is the result of continued deliberation. A nation of a thousand generations casts off the worship of all that follow is not easily estranged. When convinced, so far, American thoughts and habits gradually follow. Our method of teaching is a steady affront to their degradation of woman, and the pupils soon learn to respect their teachers, and often make substantial presents. Our school boys incline to American habits. I visited a large sleeping apartment a few days since; four beds covered with the best white woolen blankets were as neat as could be found in our town, curtains hung at the windows. Its inmates are poor boys. Many suppose the imitative ability of the Chinese destroys their appreciation of internal ideas," Dr. Barber, the Sunday school superintendent, assures me that he is often surprised at their quick conception of Bible truths, and nearly every Christian experience thus far related has presented original thought in a light peculiar to the individual.

WHAT HAS THIS WORK COST?

During the first year the expenses amounted to $1 100 50, of which the Chinese paid $185 50. The Missionary, Dong Gong, received $480 per year, and the rent is secured for $150. The expenses of the second year, exclusive of the amount paid directly to the teachers, is somewhat less, amounting to $648 10. Nearly all the expenses have been borne by the people of Portland. Business men of different faiths have cheerfully given from $20 to $120 per year for the prosecution of this noble work. One of them, by no means an enthusiast in faith or life, once said to me: "If a competent man could go to the wealthy men of the East, and state the simple facts connected with the history of the school, showing its tangible results, I believe there are two or three men in New York who would pay the entire expense if necessary, so small is it compared with the amount spent for foreign missions to secure the same returns."

This gentleman has proved himself a fast friend to the work by his continued liberal aid. While we must not ignore the command of Christ to "go into all nations to preach the gospel," yet shall we not most certainly "begin at Jerusalem," when the largest nation on the face of the earth is at our own doors by its representatives, and can be reached at one fourth the expense required in his own land.

Besides these people are being moulded by our Christian civilization; awakened to the value of invention and scientific progress. Who knows whether the stereotyped instruction of their ancient classics shall not soon give way to American practical knowledge and the nation awaken to new life? But if Christians never approach the thousands thronging their streets, while wicked men are introducing them to the evils of our civilization, how will they return to neutralize at home the effects of the Christianity which hid its better side from them in its own well guarded fortress? This beginning should be made the germ of a permanent college for Chinese instruction to be used for bringing the wayfarers into contact with the best culture and purest morals of our land. For this purpose we need at once to apply for aid in its endowment from all friends of civilization. The re election of a competent board of directors with broad humanitarian sympathies will be truest forerunners of a higher progressive policy, which shall secure the sympathy of Eastern men and the confidence of all lovers of humanity in Oregon. Hon. J. N. Dolph, Hon. H. W. Corbett, Gen. O. O. Howard, Josiah Failing, D. W. Williams and Rev. D. J. AN EVIL THAT SHOULD BE BROUGHT TO AN END.

PORTLAND, Nov. 11, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your city of Portland bids fair to be, within the next two or three years, the second seaport of importance on the west coast of America, and your leading merchants and board of trade, to their honor be it said, are doing their utmost to make it so. But, sir, perhaps you are not aware that as things are conducted here at present in the matter of ships' crews, it won't be long pay shipowners to send their ships along, even at the fair rates of freights which have been going this year, if our crews are to be tampered with as they are at present. I may safely say, and I believe that I speak the sentiments of every shipmaster in this port, that the taking of our seamen from us, and the manner in which it is done, is the only drawback that we have here, and how we are to do about it, no one seems to know.

Now, Mr. Editor, there is a screw loose somewhere. I feel that there are and, indeed, must be, many good men in your city who would protect us if they only knew what we have to suffer. I speak the truth when I tell you from past experience that I have found it infinitely worse in this respect than your neighboring city of San Francisco. There the crews are also taken away, but are kept out of sight until they are shipped in another ship, or, at least, the ship which they have left has sailed. But here they walk openly about the street from the first day they go, and we have not the least chance to have them taken on board again, although they are our servants under contract to serve from port to port in the United Kingdom, just as sure as in your own American ships your crews are bound to sail from port to port of the United States. Then, sir, there is the very exorbitant rate of wages demanded, for substitutes, namely $35 per month, with from one to two months' advance; and, worse than all, to the point of any right thinking man, there is the blood money; and I believe that as much as $40 per man has been paid here within the last few months under this title. And yet here the tax does not end. There is usually a man to pay $5 per day from the time the ship leaves Portland until she crosses the bar of the Columbia. A period which, in unsettled weather, often extends to twelve or fourteen days; and this man's duty is simply to see that none of your crew leave the second time.

Now, sir, you may imagine how much good service we may expect to get from men on our passage home, who have left the port two months in debt and with a fair prospect of being arrested on their arrival home, their wages confiscated and themselves imprisoned for desertion from their last ship. Men under those circumstances cannot be expected to do fair duty; therefore we, and the merchants who have their cargoes in our charge, have to suffer. True, we can have men sent from San Francisco at a much lower rate of wages, but it is surely in this State of Oregon that we ought to look for redress; and we are certain, Mr. Editor, that if a few of your leading men take this thing in hand we will not much longer be left to suffer the annoyances that we have to bear at present. Twice, during the last week I have had to get out of bed during the night to put strangers away from the ship, and in both instances have had men taken away, or at least assisted.

Now, Mr. Editor, please do something for us; tell us how we must act to have this thing done away with. It is really the only objection that this port presents to us. River pilotage, towage, dispatch and every thing else connected with shipping, I consider to be as good as any port in the world; but surely the future prosperity of your grain fleet will not be endangered much longer by this crying evil. With respect, yours faithfully,

SHIPMASTER.

WHO IS ELECTED!!!

The excitement has been intense the suspense has extended over several days, and the reports coming in first one way and then another—this has resulted almost to the utter distraction of the minds of all parties, whether Republican or Democratic—but the result, now come in—the fact—one and all concede that Wilson & Speck are way ahead in their assortment of Cigars and Tobacco and choice variety of Fruit, and beat all other competitors in the field.

Agreements have been in order both for political and mining purposes, and they are much heavier than one would be excited to treat a whole convention to Noble Whisky.

THE LEGEND OF NIOBE

In ceaseless tears lone Niobe
Among the Phrygian hills
With brow bent low upon her knee
Her marble heart distils—
For those fair daughters of her pride
By Dian s arrows slain,
Whose clustered beauty here outvied
And showed their starry strain

For three six sons of hero men
Whom Dian s brother slew
So fast around the hapless queen
The immortal arrows flew
Ere vengeful quivers threw the last
Transfixed in voiceless woe
Around her all her glorious brood
In purple death laid low

Nine days they mouldered where they fell—
To bury them was none
For Zeus had with petrific spell
The people turned to stone
Then from their radiant thrones of air
The sons of Ether came
And pitying made the dead their care
And lit the funeral flame

Thus while her children were inurned
The mother's lips no moan
Escaped then Zeus in mercy turned
Her also into stone
And still in Sipylos they say
Among the lonely hills
In tears which time can near allay
Her marble heart distils

EVOLUTION AND THE BIBLE

A style of argument usually followed by those who dispute the modern doctrine of evolution and fancy they are at the same time defending the Bible, can hardly be looked upon as exceptional in tone or temper, as is illustrated in the article on Professor Huxley in the issue of last Saturday The popular theory of the origin of animal life is not so far away from the Bible, perhaps as from Paradise Lost, This has been denounced and cried up as orthodox, that is to be a second word of God, or a reflection of the first, and Darwin's "Origin of Species" is condemned as unscriptural because it differs from the original as given by Milton, than in consequence of any real conflict between Darwinism and the Bible. The following is a specimen of Miltonian version

Living creatures, perfect forms
Limbed and full grown, out of the earth uprose
As the dank earth the wild beast where he roams
Or bird, in thicket brake or den
Among the trees in pairs they rose and walked
Those in the fields and meadows green
And solitary these in flocks and in broad herds uprising
Now calved now half appeared pawing to get free
Their hinder parts as broke from bonds
Or pricked as beasted mane; the ounce, as the mole
Will earth above them threw with song from underground
Rose, etc, etc.

This constitutes the popular view of animal life With this the science are in conflict, and to be decided is merely which of the two is the more probable. No species transmute, as supposed and no one ever saw them uprise, full grown, out of the earth at the word of the theological party, or brought forth, and it is a question of time as to these not having great enough to be seen Does Milton, any more than the sentinel Bible? The best theologians in the Darwinian theory particular, would with a liberal interpretation of it; but that this, on the face, is fairly brought in relation with the teachings of the Bible If so, why these hysterical cries of our grandmothers' way of thinking that we see so much of, like hysterics in general are purely mental and physical

The letter by your correspondent "Will" Friday last, complains of Professor Darwin and Huxley on the ground of irreverence With a great deal of the latter, nothing could be more out of accordance in the existence, for even his bitterest opponent has announced them as Christian. In his 'Origin of Species' he gives the weak points of his theory as well as the strong for it absolute proof, at the first, that it is a theory of a dark and mysterious nature In regard to Mr. Huxley, in this country the article of his does not seem to criticise, it seems the subject with deliberation no claptrap or bombast, but as the field, stated as well as he knew in evolution could the weakness of, and then proceeded to the array of argument which he considered in its support." Is this true? If he failed to convince his opponent have been the fault of the man, or the doctrine; for they must by do descend, as the best of revelation from the Deity as set up what they hold to be true. With people of this kind, of course it is thrown away, and with all who refuse assent to the laws of evolution, which are the more simple to explain. A gradual improvement, has been brought about amid a tendency to vary among all by the obvious fact of the survival to which fact Mr Darwin has given the "natural selection" explanation supposes that, during the period of the geological age may have passed from the most complex conditions, may have sprung from It may be safely affirmed of popular and interested of evolution has met the great majority of scientific with a may say of it ought not weight. In this hungry world is very frequently a cry for the mouth piece of the mob is the best fed mouth it has so of prejudices will never be in

of the perpetual succession evolution, the successive forms the rocky strata of the earth are these, with a few missing links cted from the imperfections of low transition of organic forms up to the highest, is observed brought about either by a series interpositions of creative power natural succession of evolution the horns of a dilemma on one of we must take hold We take our believer in miracles on one the natural law on the other not show how organic forms to existence, though it refers to ility of the medium in which in their production It says, And let the earth bring forth grass &c the waters bring forth abundantly ure that hath life and fowl fly above the earth," &c. Let the earth forth the living creature after its kind of all that man was created With the theory of evolution is not conflict viewing all things is in rather remark It has only Both agree as to the first pro of vegetable forms then to the aquatic of the first forms of animal life and of rain. The revival of trade matters which was noticed a fortnight ago has drawn out a good deal of capital which has been idle for months and there is now according to good judges more money in general circulation in the community than at any prior time The local banks are [illegible] a large amount of counter business and while they are largely assisting the ordinary trade of the country the aid from outside sources is by no means small and the way in which the wheat trade is conducted there can be no material pressure on the market from that direction As fast as crops are secured and sometimes even before they are sold to European houses and the proceeds put into further ventures here so that actually but little local capital is used in this branch of our commerce Since the beginning of the harvest year the treasure receipts from San Francisco have been nearly as great in amount as the disbursements for wheat in the State Under the policy pursued the local money market has ruled easy and the present outlook is favorable for a continued full supply of available funds throughout the season Rates are not disposed to harden and outside parties are still offering to loan considerable sums on the terms heretofore prevailing

Our latest exchanges from the Atlantic coast show a better feeling among business men in nearly all the principal centers of trade. The improved state of affairs is in a measure attributable to the fact of the advancement made in this country in the past few years both in our processes of manufactures and the quality of our products The official statement of imports into this country of articles of British and Irish products into the United States for the eight months ending September 1, 1876, as compared with the corresponding period of 1875, shows an extraordinary decline thus far for 1876 on all the articles tabulated This is owing in part to the increase and lower rates of American articles that come into competition with those of Great Britain This fact being observed by European visitors to this country the past summer has increased the demand for American goods to such an extent that it seems not at all unlikely that the balance of trade is in favor of this country an event that can only restore the most prosperous era in our commercial relations

Trade matters in local circles show a great deal of activity now and the briskness is manifest in nearly all departments. While the movement in the line of jobbing and wholesale transactions has increased and shipments of merchandise to the interior has heavier than usual at this season of the year the retail dealers in this city report a better trade than before for two years. The leading articles of imported goods are in full supply and prices are steady Staple dry goods and groceries are still ruling low, though quotations have appreciated slightly since the fall trade set in In agricultural goods, the trade during the fall months has been very large, and the farmers of the State have, as a rule been fairly prompt in settling up their bills, business men generally reporting remittances from the interior as quite on an average with the usual volume

Domestic Produce

Shows no change in quotations from the figures given last week The telegraphic reports of a slight depreciation in wheat in the European markets has not materially affected prices on this coast, the only result being to render buyers a little more cautious, and large lots are not taken quite so freely at current rates though no purchases have been reported at any reduction The heavy rains prevailing to-day have somewhat retarded outdoor operations and as usual on Mondays the receipts have been light The vessels at hand are having reasonably fair dispatch and the clearances this week will probably number four or five.

The demand for oats of first quality is fair both for the local trade and for shipment to San Francisco Dealers here take all offering at quotations, but receipts show some falling off Flour is in moderate supply and firm at the figures given, with a brisk local and shipping demand. Provisions are in better supply, a good deal of new bacon being thrown on the market during the past few days but the quantity is hardly sufficient to produce any depression in prices The packing season has been inaugurated with more ample preparations for work than ever before and several packing establishments in the State are already turning out very considerable quantities of a first class product. Trade is quite active though some dealers are anticipating an early reduction from present rates Dairy products, fruits and vegetables are in fair supply and meet with ready sale at our quotations, Shipping Intelligence.

The bark Downiemount will haul into the dock at once and prepare to receive her cargo

English Crop Report.

LONDON Nov 13—The Mark Lane Express says Clear dry days and absence of rain during the past week has been of great service enabling farmers to consign wheat to the ground under favorable circumstances and larger breadth than has been sown last year The potato crop shared this advantage especially Irish but the English yield notably in midland counties has been very unsatisfactory There has been very little alteration in the quantity of the English wheat market and supplies both in London and provinces continue limited Farmers are preferring to withhold corn in the present depressed aspect of trade. Dull sale prevailed in most country markets and business generally speaking was quite of a retail nature The happy effect of the Eastern question has caused a real rade to relapse and lose the recent advantage of 2s per quarter Shipments of Russian wheat are taking the place rapidly in view of the approaching winter and closing of navigation at the sea of Azof ports the board of trade returns for October show considerable decrease of imports as compared with 187 from the continent Egypt Chili and most notably the United states and Canada. The only country showing an increase being British India these facts are suggestive as showing diminution extends to all our usual sources of supply The week's supplies have shown some increase but a larger portion of the increase in wheat has been from India and it has been most interesting to watch how quickly buyers of this class of grain being increasing from commanding indifference to a prominent position in currence of supply The notable feature in return I imports on Monday was the absence of wheat or flour from Atlantic ports Depression existed throughout trade Wheat arrll feeling continues decline In value while the demand was entirely of a retail and consumptive character Floating cargo trade ruled quiet.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of many prominent men citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt namely an institution where similar to those in California, the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory (to which the Bank's operations are limited) secured from Mortgages over City Properties Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the industries of the North Pacific coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities their policy will be to guard depositors moneys and the stockholders capital by loaning only on first class securities high interest being a secondary consideration The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone or Bills of Exchange and such like
